ATTACHMENT 2 - Specifications for Labor Department "Input" to Subsection 4-D (Manpower and Labor)

Analyzes the labor force (both as defined by the subject country and adjusted to standard U.S. terms) in terms of size, and types and degrees of skills. Provides information on the composition of the labor force by age and sex, occupational distribution, extent of employment, unemployment and under-employment, and role of minority groups (if particularly significant). Discusses wage scales and working conditions in terms of adequacy for family needs, and worker incentives. Discusses the labor reserve in terms of size and source and indicates the proportion of manpower actually serving in the armed forces.
